CREW-Baltimore Enhances Membership with BOMI International's Education Program

Annapolis, MD—BOMI International, the Independent Institute for Property and Facility Management Education, is proud to announce a new partnership with CREW-Baltimore (Commercial Real Estate Women).

“We are thrilled about our new collaborative partnership with BOMI International. CREW-Baltimore strives to provide valuable educational programs to our members, adding greater value to their membership. BOMI International is a perfect fit,” stated Joan Renner, president of CREW-Baltimore.

Even though women continue to make progress in the field of commercial real estate, CREW-Baltimore is aware of the challenges that remain. The organization is dedicated to providing women with tools and resources to help them achieve their personal and professional goals and objectives.

“We are very proud to be partnering with such a motivated group of professionals and are confident that our education programs will give CREW-Baltimore members the credentials they need to meet and exceed their goals,” said Jeffrey A. Horn, president and CEO of BOMI International.

Women are increasingly choosing commercial real estate as a career, up seven percent since 2005, creating an even greater need for women interest groups to partner with industry-specific educational institutes like BOMI International that offer accredited educational programs.

“The partnership creates a win-win for both BOMI International students and CREW-Baltimore members alike,” said Renner.

CREW-Baltimore members benefit from earning Continuing Education Unit (CEU) credits for BOMI International courses, while BOMI International graduates may use CREW-Baltimore luncheons as possible points for Continuing Professional Development (CPD) hours as required for all Real Property Administrator, Facilities Management Administrator, and Systems Maintenance Administrator designations.

BOMI International offers many course delivery options—including self-study, classroom, and online—allowing students the flexibility to choose a delivery option to best suit their work-life schedules.
